

The New York Times

December 4, 2016

JASON KENNY/CETTY IMAGES FOR UNICEF

That Old Giving Spirit

Unicef had its annual Snowflake Ball on Tuesday at Cipriani Wall Street, where Hillary Clinton was a surprise guest and presented Katy Perry with the Audrey Hepburn Humanitarian Award. Phoenix House held its fashion award dinner on Tuesday at Cipriani 42nd Street. The Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater gave its opening night benefit on Wednesday, followed by a dinner at the New York Hilton Midtown. And the Native Son Awards, which celebrates the achievements of gay black men, held its inaugural ceremony on Wednesday at the Cadillac House. DENNY LEE

Hillary Clinton was the surprise guest at the Unicef gala, where she was joined by, clockwise from top left: Pamela Fiori, Katy Perry and Caryl M. Stern; Octavia Spencer; Gillian Minner and Moll Anderson; Orlando Bloom; and Sterling McDavid and Daria Daniel.

At the Phoenix House dinner, from left: Roopal Patel, Marc Motrick and Tracy Margolies; Michael A. Clinton; and Jack McCollough and Lazaro Hernandez.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY KIRSTA SCHLEIFER FOR THE NEW YORK TIMES (UNICEF, PHOENIX HOUSE)

At the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater gala, from far left: Robert Battle and Nicole Bernard; Solange Knowles, the honorary chairwoman (center, in white dress); and Joan Weill, smiling.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY DOLLY FAIBISHEV FOR THE NEW YORK TIMES

At the Native Son Awards, from left: Emil Wilbekin and Don Lemon, an honoree; George Faison and George C. Wolfe, an honoree; and Lewis Duckett and Dr. Billy Jones, who were married in 2013 after 46 years together.

